FAROS & COM

ExecutESG in a Nutshell

WHY

- Sustainability is shifting from a cost to competitive advantage
- Stakeholder expectations growing
- Increasing complexity
- Business leaders want clarity

WHAT

- Making impacts, risks and opportunities visible
- Making sustainability visible
- Making complex simple by process integration
- SaaS toolset for VSME, SFDR and DMA compliancy

HOW

- Process software for DMA
- Process software for Strategic Action Plan
- Reporting software for VSME, compliant to SFDR PAI and EU taxonomy

FOR WHOM

- For companies that want to secure their competitiveness and relevance also in the future.
- For organizations that see sustainability as a strategic opportunity — not just a compliance cost.
- For funds wanting to help their portfolio companies improve their leadership, sustainability and SFDR compliance

The Problem

Sustainability reporting is seen as a burden and a cost, not a strategic advantage.

Sustainability isolated from strategy.

Business vs. sustainability not aligned in proportion.

The Market Opportunity

EU management consulting market is 95 BEUR with 12,5 % annual growth.
EU SaaS market is also 95 BEUR with 10,6 % annual growth.

70 % of large companies now requiring sustainability reporting from suppliers.

EU regulations and recommendations direct companies to report on sustainability.

An increasing number of investors and consumers make decisions based on sustainability.

Only 20 % of companies successfully integrate sustainability into strategy to create measurable value.*

Our Solution

We offer a three-phase approach to sustainability-business strategy integration combining software solutions and professional services.

The proprietary methodology saves 80 % of time compared to traditional methods.

Turning Sustainability into a Strategic Advantage – 1–2–3

1

Making company's impacts, risks and opportunities visible.

2

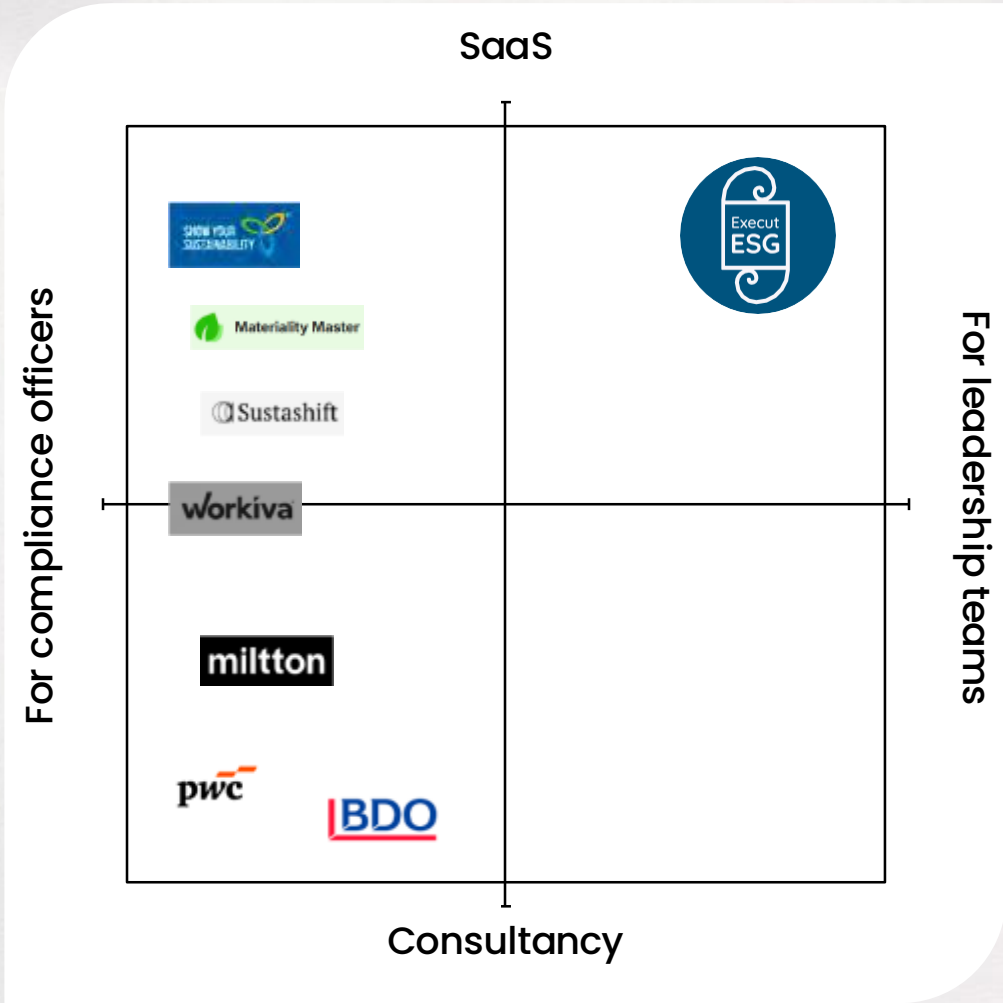

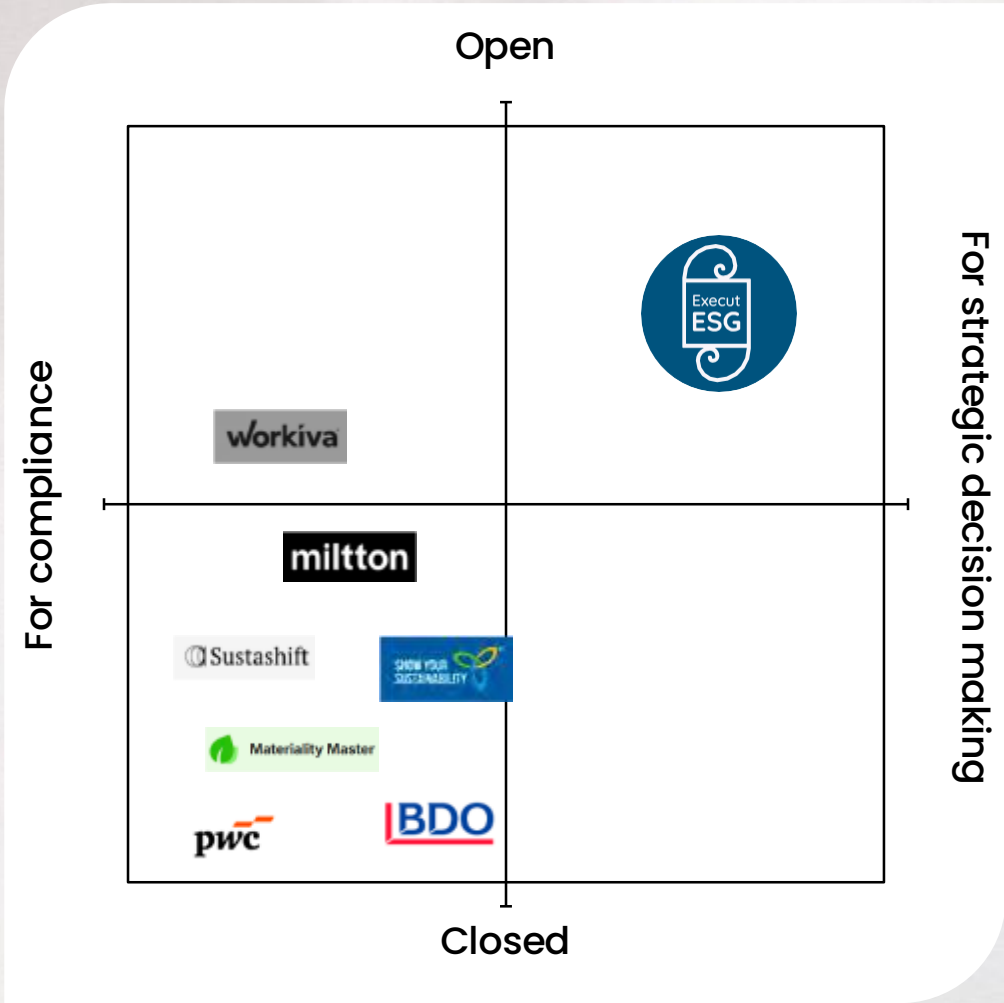

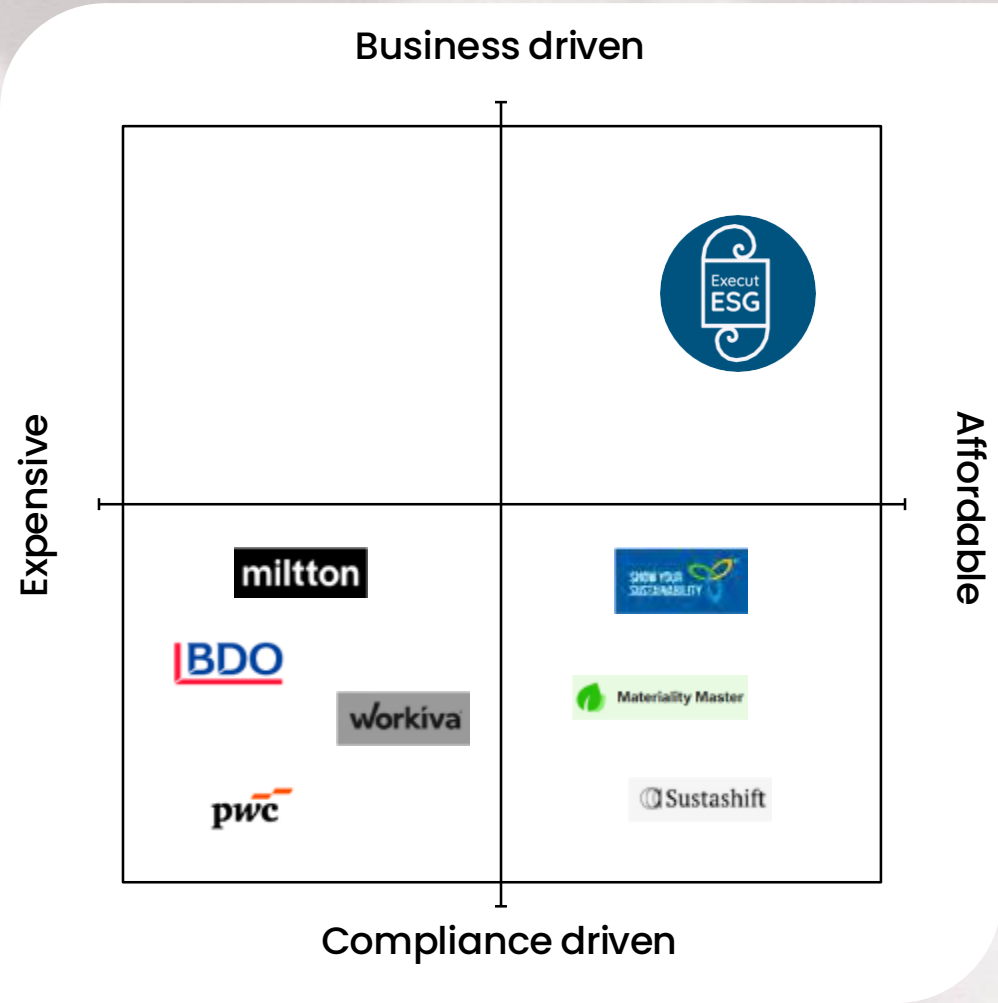

Integrating them into strategic decision-making.

3

Embedding sustainability into day-to-day practise.

Creating a future-proof competitive advantage.
